

A GUIDE FROM MATTHEW 28:19

How to Make Disciples

A practical starting point for the second command of the Great Commission — turning “go” into a relationship with real people.

“Go therefore and make disciples of all nations...”

MATTHEW 28:19

GREAT COMMISSION MINISTRIES · A GUIDE FOR DISCIPLES

1. Start With Your Own Life

You cannot lead someone somewhere you have not gone yourself. Before you can help another person follow Jesus, make sure your own daily rhythm includes real time in Scripture, honest prayer, and obedience — not just information about God, but an actual relationship with Him. Disciple-making flows out of being a disciple.

2. Look for One or Two People

Jesus disciplined twelve, but He poured Himself most deeply into three. You don't need a program to make disciples — you need one or two people willing to meet regularly and be honest with you. Look for someone hungry to grow, not someone perfect.

3. Meet Consistently, Keep It Simple

A rhythm that works

Pick a regular time — weekly or every other week. Each meeting can follow a simple pattern:

- Ask how their walk with God has gone since you last met — be specific, not vague.
- Read a short passage of Scripture together and ask what it reveals about God and about us.
- Pray for each other out loud, even if it feels awkward at first.
- Agree on one practical step to take before you meet again.

4. Teach Obedience, Not Just Knowledge

Jesus told His followers to teach people “to observe” everything He commanded — not simply to know it. A disciple who can quote Scripture but doesn't live it has not yet been disciplined. Every study should end with a question: “What will you do differently because of this?”

5. Multiply, Don't Just Add

The goal is not to keep people dependent on you forever. As the people you disciple grow, hand them the same tools and encourage them to find someone else to invest in. This is how the Great Commission spreads — not through one gifted leader, but through ordinary believers passing on what they've received, generation after generation.

A Verse to Anchor This
